

Grange Farm Primary School

Single Equality Policy Statement

Adopted by Grange Farm Primary School Governing Body
13th May 2025

To be reviewed by Governors May 2027

Vision and values

Our school is committed to ensuring that each child has equal access to all areas of the curriculum regardless of gender, race or disability. We recognise the importance of promoting children's understanding of other cultures that exist within our society. We celebrate the school population becoming increasingly more diverse and aim to ensure that children from all backgrounds achieve success.

School context

Grange Farm Primary School is a two form entry primary school with a 78 place nursery allowing for flexible provision.

Education Leeds creates an Inclusion Profile for the school each year, this shows the school has approximately 55% of children eligible for Pupil Premium (Disadvantaged) funding which exceeds the national average. The percentage of children with SEND is above national average, the great majority of these children have speech and language specific needs; systems and processes for identifying needs are robust and effective, centring on a strong pastoral team. Approximately 29% of the children come from minority ethnic groups and this figure has steadily increased over recent years. Analysis of prosperity shows that the school serves an area of high deprivation, with 62% of pupils living in the 10% most deprived areas and 32% of children living in the 3% most deprived areas.

Data is analysed annually, made available to staff and governors and displayed on our website. Staff and the governors' Teaching, Learning and Pupil Support Committee regularly review data throughout the year and the leadership team hold regular pupil progress meetings with teachers.

What we mean by equality

At Grange Farm Primary School we understand equality to mean treating everyone with equal dignity and worth, valuing their particular characteristics such as their age, disability, gender, ethnicity, religion or belief, sexual orientation and socio-economic circumstances.

We further understand that people have different needs, situations and goals and therefore achieving equality requires the removal of discriminatory barriers that limit what people, especially children and young people can do and can be. We recognise that inequality can be experienced in a variety of ways such as through outcomes, access to services, the degree of independence to make decisions affecting lives and inequality of treatment, including in relation to employment, through direct and indirect discrimination or disadvantage imposed by other individuals, groups, institutions or systems intentionally or inadvertently.

Introduction

Under The Equality Act 2010 and The Equality Act 2010 \(Specific Duties\) Regulations 2017 schools are no longer required to publish an equality scheme or action plan. The statutory requirements are for governing bodies of all maintained schools and academies to:

- draw up and publish equality objectives every four years;
- annually publish information demonstrating how they are meeting the aims of the general public sector equality duty
- draw up an accessibility plan and review this every three years

It is still good practice however, for schools to make a statement about the principles used to review the impact on equalities of its policies and procedures, to identify how it fulfils its specific duties to publish information and how specific objectives will be determined and measured.

The legal framework

We welcome our duties under:

The Equality Act 2010 to eliminate discrimination, advance equality of opportunity and foster good relations in relation to the protected characteristics of;

- age (as appropriate for schools);
- disability;
- gender reassignment;
- marriage and civil partnership;
- pregnancy and maternity;
- race;
- religion and belief;
- sex;
- sexual orientation

The Public Sector Equality Duty to assess the impact of our policies and practices on staff and pupils and take action to remove any obstacles identified, having due regard to:

- Eliminating unlawful discrimination, harassment and victimisation.

- Advancing equality of opportunity between people who share a protected characteristic and people who do not share it.
- Fostering good relations across all protected characteristics between people who share a protected characteristic and people who do not share it.

Guiding principles

In fulfilling our statutory duties we are guided by seven principles.

Principle 1: All members of the school and wider community are of equal value

We see all members of the school and wider community of equal value:

- whether or not they are disabled
- whatever their ethnicity, culture, national origin or socio- economic circumstances
- whatever their gender and sexual identity
- whatever their religious or non-religious affiliation or background
- whatever their age

Principle 2: We recognise and respect diversity

Treating people equally does not necessarily involve treating them all the same. Our policies, procedures and activities must not discriminate, but are differentiated, as appropriate, to take account of differences of life-experience, outlook and background, and in the kinds of barrier and disadvantage which people may face, in relation to:

- disability, so that reasonable adjustments are made;
- ethnicity, so that different cultural backgrounds and experiences of prejudice are recognised;
- gender and sexual orientation so that the different needs and experiences of girls and boys, women and men lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender people are recognised;
- religion belief or faith background;
- sexual identity; and
- age (where appropriate).

Principle 3: We foster positive attitudes and relationships, and a shared sense of cohesion and belonging

We intend that our policies, procedures and activities should promote:

- positive attitudes towards disabled people, good relations between disabled and non-disabled people, and an absence of harassment of disabled people;
- positive interaction, good relations and dialogue between groups and communities different from each other in terms of ethnicity, culture, religious affiliation, or national origin, and an absence of prejudice-related bullying and incidents;
- mutual respect and good relations between boys and girls, women and men, lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender people and an absence of sexual and homophobic harassment; and
- promote positive intergenerational attitudes and relationships.

Principle 4: We will ensure that the recruitment, retention and ongoing development of staff is undertaken in a fair and equitable manner to support our school's vision and values

Policies and procedures should benefit all employees and potential employees, for example in recruitment and promotion, and in continuing professional development:

- whether or not they are disabled;
- whatever their ethnicity, culture, religious affiliation, or national origin;
- whichever their gender and sexual identity and with full respect for legal rights relating to pregnancy and maternity; and
- whatever their age

Principle 5: We aim to reduce and remove inequalities and barriers that already exist

In addition to avoiding or minimising possible negative impacts, we take opportunities to maximise positive impacts by reducing and removing inequalities and barriers that may already exist between:

- disabled and non-disabled people;
- people of different ethnic, cultural and religious backgrounds;
- girls and boys, women and men;
- lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender; and
- age (where appropriate).

Principle 6: We consult widely

People affected by a policy or activity should be consulted and involved in the design of new policies, and in the review of existing ones. Where possible we consult and involve:

- disabled people as well as non-disabled;
- people from a range of ethnic, cultural and religious backgrounds;

- both women and men, and girls and boys;
- lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender people; and
- people of different ages and generations.

Principle 7: We feel that the community as a whole should benefit

We intend that our policies and activities should benefit society as a whole, both locally and nationally, by fostering greater social cohesion, and greater participation in public life of:

- disabled people as well as non-disabled;
- people of a wide range of ethnic, cultural and religious backgrounds;
- both women and men, girls and boys,
- lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender people; and
- people of different ages and between generations.

Practical application of these principles

In the light of the principles stated above the following characteristics have been considered in order to identify practical objectives and plans of specific action:

- disability
- ethnicity
- gender
- sexual orientation
- religion and belief
- age
- socio-economic circumstances

These objectives are published on the school's website

The curriculum

We will actively seek opportunities to review the curriculum in order to ensure that teaching and learning reflect the seven principles outlined above.

Training and development

We will ensure staff and governors are offered the opportunity to engage in appropriate training and development to support the achievement of the seven principles.

Ethos and organisation

We ensure that the principles listed above apply also to the full range of our policies and practices, including those that are concerned with:

- pupils' progress, attainment and assessment;
- pupils' and staff personal development, welfare and well-being;
- teaching styles and strategies;
- admissions and attendance;
- staff and governor recruitment, retention and professional development;
- care, guidance and support;
- behaviour, discipline and exclusions;
- working in partnership with parents, carers and guardians;
- working with the wider community;
- participation of groups in wider school activities; and
- preparing all members of the learning community for living and positively contributing to a diverse society.

Addressing prejudice and prejudice-related bullying

The school is opposed to all forms of prejudice which stand in the way of fulfilling legal duties for all aspects of equality:

- prejudices related to disability and special educational needs
- prejudices related to racism and xenophobia, including those that are directed towards religious groups and communities, for example anti-semitism and Islamophobia, and those that are directed against Travellers, refugees and people seeking asylum
- prejudices reflecting sexism and homophobia

There is guidance in the staff handbook on how prejudice-related incidents should be identified, assessed, recorded and dealt with.
